CALL Nº25/2024–PPGD

CALL FOR PROPOSALS FOR ACCREDITATION - PPGD/PUCPR

The Postgraduate Programme in Law at PUCPR - PPGD, Area of Concentration Economic Law and Development, hereby announces the call for PhD professors interested in applying for accreditation in the PPGD, with expertise in at least one of the following themes, for 2 (two) vacancies:

1. State, Economy and Development
2. Social Rights, Globalization and Development

1. Requirements

a. Demonstrated research background and qualitative and quantitative adherence to the research conducted at the PPGD on the topics covered by the area of concentration, through previous theoretical and/or applied research; coordination of projects, including funded projects; organisation of scientific events; scientific production and teaching activity, also professional and social activity on these subjects;
b. To teach at PUCPR's Undergraduate Law Course and Stricto Sensu Postgraduate Courses - Master's and Doctorate - with a total of 40 hours per week between teaching and non-teaching hours, assuming the commitment to teach 8 hours per week on the Undergraduate Course;
c. To conduct research, including participation in Research Groups;
d. Research projects coordination;
e. To apply for research funding to national and international funding agencies, as well as public calls from other private or public organisations;
f. To publish scientific articles in the best national and international journals with the results of their research, in accordance with the requirements of qualified teaching production;
g. To submit research and scientific activity reports to funding bodies;
h. Students supervision in scientific initiation projects, applying annually to supervise scientific initiation research projects, as well as Master’s students and, when the internal requirements are met, PhD students;
i. Participation in national and international scientific events, especially by presenting research papers, always promoting the names of the PPGD and PUCPR;
j. To promote and organise exchanges with professors and students from other research institutions, especially international ones;
k. To conduct extension projects, where appropriate, and develop activities with civil society;
l. To meet all the requirements of scientific research regulatory agencies in Brazil and abroad, when applicable;
m. To account for its activities in annual reports, with a qualitative indication of the relevance of its actions and productions;
n. Participation in the activities of the programme, including administrative activities and participation in committees;
o. Orientation towards activities that demonstrate their commitment to the internationalisation of the programme, preferably in partnership with faculty members;
p. To maintain a contract, for undergraduate and stricto sensu programmes, only with PUCPR, any other contract with public or private institutions being forbidden, except as a guest in sporadic situations.

1.1 Facing proposals that similarly fulfil the Programme’s and the Area of Concentration’s strategies, preference will be given to the candidate PUCPR’s faculty member, and at least to one female candidate.

2. Registration requirements:

a. A printed, complete and updated bio (lattes), as well as proof of your main productions over the last five years demonstrating your expertise and fulfilment of item 1.a;
b. Proof of undergraduate, master’s and doctoral degrees obtained at a recognised national institution or obtained outside Brazil and validated by a national public institution, as well as Tenured Professor and Post-doctoral certificates;
c. Demonstration of how you intend to strengthen PPGD activities and projects with:
c.1. A description of the plans for international insertion, in no more than two pages, aligning it with the activities already carried out as a lecturer and researcher and describing the construction of international research partnerships and the mobility of lecturers and students;
c.2. a course project of 03 credits (45 class hours), related to the area to which you are submitting the proposal, indicating the syllabus, bibliography (maximum ten), development of classes and assessment methodology;
c.3. a research project, no longer than ten pages, relevant to your subject of expertise;
c.4. a detailed memorial of the applicant’s career and production, demonstrating compliance with item 1.a, in a maximum of ten pages;
d. A letter of motivation in no more than 400 words, written in Spanish or English;
e. A commitment to maintain a teaching contract only with PUCPR, including a commitment to resign from any public or private institution with which you have a current relationship, as a requirement for accreditation and, if applicable, hiring.

3. Procedures and deadlines
a. Interested parties must file the documents indicated in item 2 with the Secretariat of the PUCPR Postgraduate Law Programme by 28 June 2024 at 6pm. Interested parties residing outside PUCPR’s headquarters, and only those, can send their documents, in a single pdf, in the order indicated on item 2, to secretaria.ppgd@pucpr.br.

b. Pre-selected applicants may be called for an interview, on a date to be announced, if applicable.

c. The interview may take place in the language of proficiency indicated by the candidate.

d. The selection of the proposal will take into account, above all, the adherence of the interested party’s activities to the research carried out at the PPGD and at the Area of concentration.

e. If a professor is selected who is part of the PUCPR teaching staff, accreditation will take place for the second semester of 2024. If a professor is selected who is not part of the PUCPR teaching staff, the appointment may be made for the 2025 academic year.

f. PUCPR reserves the right not to select or hire any of the applicants. In the event of being hired, the professor will be hired in the Adjunct I class; in the event of the accreditation of a professor who is already a member of the PUCPR staff, any change of classification will be made at the discretion of the PUCPR, when a vacancy becomes available, at the appropriate time.

In the event of any discrepancy, the Portuguese version of this call shall prevail.

Curitiba, 13th June 2024.

Profa. Dra. Danielle Anne Pamplona
Coordinator of the Postgraduate Law Programme - PUCPR